Hurricane Season Starts June 1st, 2009

The Atlantic hurricane season officially starts June 1st and runs until November 30th. Although these are the official start and end dates, Hurricanes don't read calendars. Hurricanes can, and have occurred outside these dates, but approximately 97% of all tropical storms have been during this time frame. Why am I telling you this so early? I believe it is time to start preparing now. In the past few years tropical storms have probably affected someone you know, and in many instances those people are still dealing with the aftermath of the storm. Preparing for the storm is not just gathering food, water, fuel, etc. Truly preparing means having a plan for the storm. Where will you go if you are evacuated? What about the pets? Do you have enough insurance?

Left to the last minute these important questions get lost in the panic. Now is the time to begin planning the escape plan. There are many places to find information about ways to plan for this season and being truly prepared. You can visit our webpage or follow the link here <http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/HAW2/english/intro.shtml> the resources provided at this link are sponsored by the National Hurricane Center and it is a great place to start. We will have more information and discussion on this topic as we get closer to June. Until then start getting ready by making a plan.

TLC Public Adjusters, Inc. is now in Georgia.

TLC Public Adjusters, Inc. is proud to announce that we are now able to help our neighbors to the north. As of March 9th, 2009 Timothy J. Cornett, ACA was licensed by the great state of Georgia. This allows our company to provide services to property owners across both states. Florida is not the only state racked by property losses from Hurricanes, Fires, Tornadoes, etc. and we look forward to being able to help anywhere our services are needed. If you know anyone who was damaged by the tornadoes of last year, then you know what we mean. As we start to work with home owners and businesses in Georgia, we will undoubtedly encounter new challenges and situations to overcome. These new challenges will ultimately benefit everyone we serve. Thank you, Georgia for allowing us to serve you.
